ATTENTION: FOR HOUSE AND CABIN LOGS

- 1) Unless noted, prices are per lineal foot.
- 2) Packages consist of approximately 50% 8' and 50% 10', 12', and some 16' white pine logs.
- 3) Unless noted, log stack height sizes are actual with the thickness being variable on natural logs.
- 4) All logs are sprayed with Sta-Bright, bundled with air-space sticks, and covered with lumber wrap to protect from the elements.
- 5) All log products are at least #2 or better. If graded and stamped logs are required, please contact us for an estimate for this service. Be sure to find out the requirements for the building site prior to ordering the materials.
- 6) The ends of the wall logs and log siding product up to 10" will be cut square at the mill.
- 7) Natural is rustic and the logs have raised knots, bumps, and all the natural characteristics of the log.
- 8) Thicknesses are averaged. The natural surface of trees have taper and other diameter changes. Diameters are averaged and measured from the small end of the log.
- 9) Different drying options are available:
 - A) Single, clean peel (by hand w/drawknives and muscle, the old fashion way) and dried at your location.
 - 1) Most economical and ideal for small cabins.
 - 2) After a log is fresh cut and peeled, there tends to be some pitch bleeding on the natural surface that looks a bit like sweating. Once the log dries, this is not noticeable to most people, but it is possible it may be seen or felt. Ordering logs in the late fall or winter can help reduce the amount of pitch bleed.
 - 3) If a good quality, penetrating log stain is used, a single peeled log will be protected the same as a double peeled log, but some white spots of dried pitch may be noticeable, especially with a darker stain.
 - B) Double peeled (initial peel, air dried, and then clean peeled prior to shipping). This method is recommended.
 - 1) Air drying can take up to 6 months.
 - 2) The second peel removes a thin layer of wood, cleans off any dried pitch, cambium, and remaining pieces of bark.
 - C) Kiln drying (for an additional cost) takes approximately 4 weeks.

MISCELLANEOUS NOTES:

- 1) Log posts, rafters, joists, and collar ties are priced as double peeled. If a special order is requested for single peel, the price will be the same as the double peel.
- 2) Red pine logs are used more often for posts and vertical corners as they tend to have less taper.
- 3) Products are guaranteed as stated. We cannot ensure that a log will not bend, twist, or crack. While we will do our best to provide the highest quality material, we cannot control every aspect of nature. Always figure some extra for waste and to cover for the unforeseen.
- 4) If you would like something other than what you see, please contact us as we do a lot of custom work.
- 5) Freight charges are not included in the prices of this catalog, please call/text for a shipping quote.
- 6) Prices are subject to change, please confirm current prices prior to ordering.
